Wall Street

New York, Dec. 18.—(AP)—The stock market opened irregularly higher today with early trading again light in volume. National Bellas Hess and National Biscuit each opened 5 points higher and Kennecott Copper and U. S. Industrial Alcohol showed initial gains of a point. Warner Bros. Pictures and Westinghouse Electric each yielded a point on the week sale.

Although a few soft spots developed here and there, the general market continued to point upward in the early trading. National Bellas Hess extended its gain to 7 points, the recent spectacular advance in that issue being attributed in some quarters to investment trust buying and in others to the retreat of an overcrowded short interest.

Coppers again showed good evidence of group strength. Although the monthly statistical report of the American Bureau of Metal Statistics showed an increase last month in surplus stocks from 25,600 tons to 52,100 tons, normally a ten day supply, reports are current that all copper in sight has been purchased under contract for future delivery. American Smelting advanced 3 points and Granby moved up 1% to a new high of 85¢. Greene Cananes was heavy.

New York Traction stocks responded to pool operations, based on expectations of a favorable U. S. Supreme Court decision in the 7 cent fare case to be argued next month. Interboro Rapid Transit quickly claimed 2% points. Manhattan modified guaranteed 1½ and Brooklyn Manhattan Transit 1.

Selective buying appeared in the rail group with Erie and Kansas City Southern in the vanguard of the advance.

Foreign exchanges opened firm, with Sterling cables quoted ¼ high at $4.65 5-16.

Trading was dull during the forenoon, but the price trend continued upward, as pools sent some of the high-priced specialties soaring. National Tea shot up 23 points, and National Bellas Hess extended its gain to 10 points, touching a new peak at 184%. Montgomery Ward, which has had a protracted sinking spell, was again taken in hand by the full forces and pushed up 7½ points. Dupont, Byers, Radio, American Smelting and Greene Cananes mounted about 5 to 7 points, and Wright Aero, after sinking nearly four points to 230, rallied to 239. Call money renewed at 7 per cent.

Prices continued to creep upward, with the popular high priced shares in demand, as the session entered the final hour. Montgomery Ward reached 128%, approximating the high figure for the present stock. Adams Express rose 8. Greene Cannanea Copper 7, and Midland Steel Products preferred 6. American Can, Corn Products, Shattuck and Johns Manville also ruled materially higher. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

K. C. Women Join in Liquor Raids

Kansas City, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Comely and daring women volunteers have joined the police here in closing saloons, taking up the work where Mrs. Maud Wilson, modern-day Carrie Nation, left off a week ago last Monday after wrecking a saloon with a hat-chest.

Adopting a course more nearly within the law the female dry crusaders, working with plain clothes officers, have purchased liquor at a half dozen saloons and helped in gathering evidence to substantiate injunction cases.

Sergeant Elmer E. Duncan, head of the police raiding squad, has revealed that five young women, some of whom are said to be socially prominent, already have become active in the dry crusade, and that 15 more volunteers were in readiness to take up the work if the identity of the present workers is discovered by bartenders.

"Just give them the strength" the Sergeant said, "to keep on taking their liquor straight, and we'll clean up this town."

MRS. SCHULER TO WINTER IN FLORIDA

Friends of Mrs. E. T. Schuler of Alabama have been advised that she, her daughter Imogene and son Eugene expect to leave Dec. 29 to spend the winter in Florida, the climate of which state it is hoped will prove beneficial to Mrs. Schuler.

"Although it was just a little glass I felt giddy and so didn't go to any place else that night, because I knew I had to drink it, and I don't drink. But finally I drowned it."

"I thought the stuff would set me on fire, and I drank the glass of water that was served mighty quick. I said 'see you again, as naturally as I could, and got outside.'

"Taking their liquor straight," is indeed the hardest part of the self-imposed task, one of the assistant raiders today indicated. Her name, like those of the others, was not revealed.

"I went into three places," she said, "before I found a drink. Then I was really scared, because I knew I had to drink it, and I don't drink. But finally I drowned it."

MENUS for the FAMILY

Colorful, Modern Gifts are Desires of Youth of Today

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

New York—College girls and boys and the independent apartment-dwelling bachelors—they men or women—view Christmas in a highly practical way.

It is a real opportunity for the family to stock them up! And why not? They usually have little money for extras. And they often are at that age when little extras mean more to them than they ever will again.

Therefore it behooves the family to choose carefully to get the maximum of suitability out of small cost. For the average recipient in these classes, a good rule is to get several things of appreciable usefulness or beauty rather than some masterpiece whose cost would preclude any other gifts.

Modern Note
Any furniture or furnishings for the room, from a modernistic hassock to a piano, usually is a good choice. Lamps are especially so, no single thing can do more for room than the right lighting fixtures. Curtains, drapes, couch covers, pillows and colored sheets are excellent choices. Moreover, these can be made at small cost. So is smoking equipment, whether it be a smart new cigarette case, tobacco sack or smoking stand done in novel design.

For the room also one might choose a modern bit of porcelain, desk set, book ends, hanging book cases, equipment to keep wardrobes in exquisite order, rugs, pictures, heavy luxurious bath sets of towels, wash rags, bath mats and sponges, soap, bath salts to match. Dishes prove very acceptable, especially if they happen to be a tea or breakfast set of French quimper ware, Italian, Spanish or Austrian peasant ware. And refreshment sets of colored glass are excellent, with rose pink glass the most stylish shade now.

Mothers, aunts, grandmothers and sisters who live at home and are good cooks have a vast chance to make up Christmas boxes that will arouse cheers of enthusiastic thanks. A decorative little box, basket or hamper filled with home-made sample-sized jellies, jams, marmalades and conserves lasts a long time for company breakfasts. Little parcels of home-made cookies, fruit cake, candied fruits, salted nuts, fine teas, coffee or other edibles that keep indefinitely are excellent.

He or she who paints can make charming gifts for the college or apartment "independent." For instance, paint a set of plain tin trays in gaudy, modernistic manner to use for serving company suppers on, instead of having to set a table. Paint up various boxes for waste baskets, hat boxes, desk compartments and so on. Hand-tint a few dozen fine paper napkins in modernistic design or buy a set of the new crepe paper gingham plaid napkins and table cloth.

Personal Gifts
Personal luxuries such as fine perfume and cosmetics are good. But be sure the recipient uses the shade of rouge you pick, or the same lipstick. Lingerie, vestees, bits of jewelry and shoe buckles may be safe bets.

Young men take kindly to gifts of jazzy pajamas or some of the new colored silk underwear. Evening attire is good for men, from mufflers, dress gloves and cuff buttons to a whole Tux suit. Canes are one the up and up, but one should pick a stick to suit the "wearer."

Loafing attire, be it smocks or

EUSTIS' SUCCESS STORY.

Depressing as these modern times sometimes seem, they are really full of men and women of genuine nobility and fitness.

William Henry Eustis died the other day in Minneapolis at the age of 83. Although he was well known in the northwest, his fame could hardly be said to be countrywide; yet his life was one of those lives that give one a new faith in human nature.

At 15 an accident made him a cripple. He was too poverty-stricken to get proper treatment, so he dedicated his life to the task of earning $1,000,000 with which he could endow a hospital for crippled children.

He gained his goal. Educating himself despite his handicaps, he became a lawyer and then entered the real estate field, rolling up a large fortune. And before his death he dedicated his entire wealth—$1,500,000—to the construction and maintenance of a hospital where children crippled he was crippled can receive care.

Very likely you never heard of him before; but don't you agree that the story of what he did makes inspiring reading?

A PASTOR'S OPTIMISM.

If you have a dour feeling that the optimist is usually left holding the bag, hark to the experience of the Rev. Crayton S. Brooks, pastor of the First Christian Church of Ardmore, Oklahoma.

A master of a decade ago the Rev. Brooks came to this church as pastor. He helped the deacons draw up a budget for the year, and then suggested that instead of giving him a regular salary the church, at the end of the year, simply give him whatever surplus funds were left after all other bills were met. He was optimistic enough to believe that this would work.

As it happens, it has worked beautifully. The Rev. Brooks still holds that pulpit and is getting along nicely. The church has never yet failed to live within its budget—something rather unusual, for any organization—and the minister's optimism has been justified by the results.

ROBBERY FOR EDUCATION.

There are various kinds of pride. Some of them are praiseworthy, and some are quite the reverse.

A 17-year-old student at Michigan State College is awaiting sentence for robbing two gasoline stations. Arrested for the crimes, he explained that he had lost the job by which he was working his way through college. His father, a rural mail carrier, could not help him. The boy had to have money.

"I was too proud to ask for help," he said.

That kind of pride is distinctly not an asset to anybody. It may be embarrassing to ask someone to help you out of financial difficulties, but it is a wee bit better than going out and committing robbery.

A woman in a Utah city asks the Mayor's Christmas Tree Committee for a baby. If that isn't ultimate faith in "this prosperity," just what is?

The number of cigaret advertisements appealing to women is increasing. We expect almost any day now to see assortments in fags, to match hats and gowns.

Maybe one way to make daughter behave would be to tell her that her mother didn't.

Newspaper agencies complain of a scarcity of good news pictures. Aren't there any more 106-year-old people to ride in airplanes?

The man who pushed a peanut 11 miles with his nose ought to make a good reporter. He has a great nose for news.

Actors in the talkies cannot wear mustaches or whiskers, as they interfere with speech. Some of the plots, however, will furnish the whiskers.

Lady Astor says it took a great war to show men what women can do. Wonder what peace would show?

About 17,000,000 has been spent in flood relief. That's almost what it costs to elect a president.

If you don't like the talking movies, wear your ear-muffs.

"These wagons, scooters, cars and bikes are things that every youngster likes," said Scouty. "I am glad that we have helped to fix them right. Just think of all the fun ahead for tots who jump right out of bed, and run down to their Christmas tree to find these things in sight."

Then Clowny said, "I guess it's true. I think that I would like one too. Perhaps, if I ask Santa he will give me one for keeps. And, if he does I know that I'll make all you other Tines smile. Why, shucks he's never miss one, 'cause he has just heaps and heaps."

Then Scouty broke right in and said, "Now don't be silly. Use your head. Just leave it all to him, and do not beg a single thing. I really think the proper way is just to wait till Christmas day. Perhaps we'll all be tickled with the presents it will bring."

"Ah, that is absolutely right."

Fred High Says—

That there are still fortunes to be made in the grocery business is shown by the recent activities of Clarence Saunders, of Piggly-Wiggly fame, who has just announced that he has the backing of twenty millionaires to develop a new $50,000,000 self-serving chain of grocery stores. This system claims that it will do a billion dollars gross business within five years.

Saunders started his Piggly-Wiggly stores in 1916 and flourished for a time, but finally lost everything in a big Wall Street plunge, in which he and his associates were taken for a "cleaning." Since then, with $12,000 borrowed from friends, he started another chain of grocery stores. He spent $6,000 of this borrowed $12,000 in advertising during the first month. He now has 49 stores that have earned $235,843. These 49 stores are the nucleus of the new system.

Chain stores are making money and are rapidly expanding and new systems are being organized. This cooperative activity is not being confined to the chain stores. It is estimated that 35,000 independent grocery stores have joined in co-operative buying, co-operative selling and co-operative advertising. It is the next general movement forward.

We can all profit by a little study of California's experiences with co-operative efforts, for nowhere else in the world has co-operative marketing been so sensationaly successful as on the Pacific Coast. California has made the most marvelous record in agricultural development during the past twenty years and holds the solution for many of the present farm difficulties.

The California people had anything but an easy job in developing their co-operative plans. In the early days many co-operative organizations followed each other into the graveyard. Conditions in all agricultural lines were deplorable. The raisin industry is a fair example.

the growing volume of raisin business for the first time in thirty years. The price of raisins gradually increased until it reached as high as $250 a ton, or 12½ cents per pound. Raisin production gradually increased from the former 35,000 tons per year, until in 1926 it reached 285,000 tons.

How can we account for the increase from 2 cents to 12½ cents per pound and the tremendous increase of production? Three reasons—(1) a better quality of raisins brought about by the association itself buying them and grading them; (2) a more scientific sales plan, and (3) co-operative advertising through markets. General Manager F. A. which was created new uses and new Seymour, of the California Associated Raisin Co., has said: "We cannot attribute the permanently increased consumption to anything except advertising. For example we began in January 1915 to advertise to bakers urging the use of raisins in bread. In that month we sold them 25,000 cases of seeded raisins. Two years later, in the corresponding month, we sold them 299,000 cases of seeded raisins."

Let no one imagine that any co-operative organization is free from trouble. The Sun Maid Raisin Growers of California is passing through one of those internecine wars in which its co-operative activities have been almost wrecked. Members have been dropping out.

What is the result? They are receiving from 4 to 5 cents per pound for their raisins according to grade. Without co-operative marketing the raisin industry on the Pacific Coast will revert to its former condition.

Without co-operative buying, selling and advertising, there is little chance in this day for the small merchant. The same is true of the small manufacturer. Likewise he is doing something different, something better, cheaper or faster, than his big competitor, or rendering some special service, the small merchant, and the small farmer cannot compete.

And then he started off once more and took them to a candy store. "We're going to make some candy canes," said Santa, with a grin. "Well let fat Clowny be the cook. The rest of you can start to look for lines on which to hang them, and for bags to put them in."

The syrup very shortly boiled and not a bit of candy spoiled. Brave Clowny stood and stirred it and he did the job up fine. Soon Carpy packed some canes away where up till Christmas they would stay. Then Carpy did his share by hanging several on a line.

CUBAN WAS STAR OF GOOD BOUTS LAST EVENING

Santiago Upset Dope by Putting Sangor Sound Asleep

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago, Dec. 18—(AP)—A twenty-year-old Cuban youth named Jose Armando, fighting under the war-like nom de plume of Armando Santiago today became the foremost contender of the world's junior lightweight championship as a result of his surprising two-round knockout victory over Joey Sanger of Milwaukee last night.

Sangor, regarded as the outstanding contender for the 130 pound title, was smashed to defeat in a spectacular battle that stunned the 10,000 spectators who filled the Coliseum. The freckled faced Milwaukee boy had accepted the match merely as a warm up for his championship encounter with Tod Morgan of Seattle the titleholder in Milwaukee on New Year's Day.

Instead of finding Santiago a push-over, Sangor met a two-fisted fighter who traded punch for punch. By his spectacular knockout victory, Santiago joined the pugilistic uprising that resulted in the elevation of Ray Walberg and Earnshaw, of the Athletics' pitching staff, have the same fault of being unable to pace themselves. This particular fault in Walberg may have been responsible for the loss of the pennant this year by the Athletics.

Sangor was easy

Santiago finished Sangor like he was an ordinary ham and egger, instead of a contender for a championship. After a bristling first round in which they traded punches like two longshoremen, Sangor came out confidently for the second.

Within the twinkling of an eye he was groggy and reeling from a sharp right cross to the chin. Santiago nailed him flush on the point of the jaw with a short right that knocked him silly. Sangor attempted to grab his opponent, but the Cuban wrested him off and cracked him with another right. Sangor dropped to the floor for the count of nine.

As he struggled to his feet his face was ashen white and his knees were sagging. Santiago, boxing calmly and with deliberation, let fly with another short that knocked Sangor half way across the ring where he sprawled flat on his face. He tried to get up on instinct alone. He managed to get himself up to one knee, then slumped back to the floor, the victim of the fatal ten count.

Upset Was Feature

The upset of Sangor was the feature of the revival of boxing at the Coliseum, which also witnessed the victory of Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, world's light heavyweight champion over "Big Boy" Peterson of Minneapolis. Loughran, bidding for fame as a heavyweight championship contender, decisively beat his heavier and taller opponent in ten rounds, spotting him 17½ pounds in weight.

Another upset was the defeat of Shuffie Callahan, the slugging south-paw middleweight, who was forced to surrender to Ted Ross of Chicago in the seventh round, after hitting the canvas six times.

just stand and count him and we all counted on the bench. It took about three innings to figure out that he would count 15 as soon as he had nodded on getting the sign and then we started to work on him.

"The batters went up, counted 14 and stepped out of the box. If he tried it again they would step out of the box again and the umpires would start squawking at him. When he couldn't get his count in he would fine the ball from any position. We also worked on him by counting on the bench and when we got to 14 we would yell—"There it comes, now." And I think you will find that Grove hasn't been so good against Cleveland since that time."

Walberg and Earnshaw, of the Athletics' pitching staff, have the same fault of being unable to pace themselves. This particular fault in Walberg may have been responsible for the loss of the pennant this year by the Athletics.

Hug Got Smart Too
Walberg pitched one of the first games of the crucial series in which the Athletics and the Yankees were playing virtually for the championship and he was standing the Yankees on their ears.

Walberg may not have been counting to get his pace but Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, observed that he was pitching too fast and putting to much on the ball.

"Get up there and wait him out," Huggins told his hitters. "He's working too fast and getting tired every minute. Make him pitch."

The Yankee batters made him work so hard that he blew up toward the end of the game and blew the game with him.

His defeat after the fine start he had made took out of the A's what little heart was left in them and it is plausible to assume that that one observation by Mr. Huggins may have won the championship for his club.

Wait And See
Georgia Tech, finishing the regular season without having been beaten or held to a tie, is the one major team in the country to enjoy a perfect season. The far west is accepting Georgia Tech as a representative of the east against California in the Tournament of Roses game, and the east, no doubt, is glad to have a team of Tech's ability carry its flag to the coast. That is, unless California should beat the southerners. Then they will be on southern team.

Ted Lewis Walked Out of the Ring
Toronto, Ont., Dec. 18—(AP)—Ted (Kid) Lewis, former welterweight champion, walked out of the ring in the first round of his 10-round bout with Charley Belanger, Canadian heavyweight champion, here last night.

Jack McAllister, who was then managing the Cleveland Indians, figured out after watching him several times that he was counting to himself and it was then up to him to find out exactly how many beats he was counting before he let go of the ball.

"I told Jamieson to go up there and Lefty Grove, until two years ago, had a bad habit of pitching too fast and heaving the ball when he was off balance. Kid Gleason went to work on him and the other ball clubs observed that he was timing himself. Between the time when he got the sign from the catcher he went through almost a paced movement before he delivered the ball and his last one was working perfectly.

The men had hardly squared off when Referee Lou Marsh ordered Lewis to remove a rubber mouthpiece. After some dispute the Briton obeyed.

HOOVER BOARDED UTAH TODAY FOR TRIP TO BRAZIL

President-Elect Turns the Corner of Good-Will Jaunt to South

BULLETIN

Montevideo, Uruguay, Dec. 18—(AP)—The U. S. S. Utah, carrying President-elect Hoover on the Atlantic stretch of his good will mission to Latin-America, sailed for Rio Janeiro at 10:50 o'clock this morning.

Montevideo, Dec. 18—(AP)—Turning the far corner of his Latin-American trip, Herbert Hoover today boarded the U. S. S. Utah en route for Rio Janeiro where he will spend three days before beginning his long homeward voyage.

Brazil has prepared an extensive program for the President-elect as a farewell to the good will tour which has carried him more than 10,600 miles for the establishment of more cordial relations, which will be one of the major aims of his administration.

Concluding his visit to Uruguay, Mr. Hoover carried from this republic deep impressions of its desire to contribute to the peace of the Americas. He gave expression to these impressions in an exchange of speeches with President Campisteguy at a farewell banquet which was attended by a distinguished company of Uruguayans and North Americans.

Mr. Hoover said that Uruguay demonstrated that the moral weight of nations is not based upon size or numbers, but upon the spirit and character of a people. "Uruguay" is thus an example of the profound political truth that national greatness springs from the heights and depths of the national soul.

See Many Benefits

"I have hoped," Mr. Hoover said, "that I might by this visit symbolize the courtesy call from one good neighbor to another that might convey respect and esteem and desire for intellectual and spiritual cooperation."

Leading North America and Central and South America who have been following the progress of the Hoover tour, believe that its result will be incalculable in promoting friendship.

After leaving Rio Janeiro on Christmas Eve, Mr. Hoover will decide his future itinerary. Apparently he has decided to eliminate some West Indian stops which were originally planned and possibly Havana will be excluded from the return voyage. Mr. Hoover is believed to be anxious to get to Florida for conferences with party leaders on the makeup of his cabinet. He is also thought to be anxious to make plans for his own administration including the tasks to be set for the special session of the new Congress, which is to be called primarily for the solution of the farm relief program.

Youth Who Killed Sweetheart to Cell

New York, Dec. 18—(AP)—A seventeen-year-old school boy today faced a minimum prison sentence of 20 years for strangling to death his fifteen-year-old sweetheart because, he said, she wanted to kiss him.

Vincent Rice pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree yesterday in Richmond County Court after the state had rested its case in his trial for murder in the first degree growing out of the slaying of Alice Joost in her mother's home in Fort Richmond, Staten Island, last month.

The sentence which will be pronounced Thursday is mandatory under the Baumes law, with no possibility of parole until the minimum has been served.

Allenists testified that the boy was abnormal but was legally sane, and that he had acquired a strict moral code as a result of intense religious training.

Kid Chocolate Won Easily from Paluso

New York, Dec. 18—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, flashy little Cuban Negro who has been cutting a wide swath through the ranks of the lesser bantamweights, has overcome the biggest obstacle encountered so far along his route to the top, Emile Paluso of Salt Lake City. The Kid gave Paluso a terrific lacing through eight rounds of their bout last night, winning on a technical knockout when the referee decided Paluso no longer could defend himself and stopped the fight.

Mother of Ten Gets Life For Violating Liquor Law

Mrs. Etta Mae Miller, of Lansing, Mich., mother of 10 children, of whom four are living, faces a life term in the penitentiary for selling liquor. Mrs. Miller was convicted under Michigan's habitual criminal code which makes a life sentence mandatory for four felonies. State Senator Seymour Person, who defended Mrs. Miller, announced he would appeal the case and act in the next legislature to have the law repealed. Mrs. Miller's husband is serving a two-year prison term, and she is the sole support of her children, the youngest of whom is 13.

Deny Afghanistan is in Midst of Revolt

Church Treasurer Short Big Amount

London, Dec. 18—(AP)—The Afghan legation today stated that it had received information from Kabul denying reports received in India yesterday that King Amanullah and Queen Souria had taken refuge in a fort after a revolt in the army.

The legation declared that the King and Queen were residing at their palace as usual and that all foreign legations, and foreign subjects were absolutely safe.

No revolt took place in the Afghan army, the legation stated, adding that the basis of the reports appeared to have been in a series of minor incidents on Dec. 16 caused by a raid of a brigand chief on one of the suburbs of Kabul.

1200 MEMBERS IN 1929 IS WISH OF OGLE CO. BUREAU

H. D. Fink of Dixon is to Direct Drive There During January

Oregon—Setting their goal at 1200 members, directors of the Ogle County Farm Bureau are making plans for a membership renewal campaign during the month of January. H. D. Fink of Dixon, Organization Manager for the Illinois Agricultural Association in the northern district of Illinois, will be the campaign director for the Ogle County drive.

He will confer with L. D. Carmichael of Rochelle, vice president of the County Bureau and chairman of the County Organization Committee, and assist him in the organization of township committees. The campaign will be so well organized that through the local committee men, every farmer in Ogle County will have an opportunity to become a member of the Farm Bureau and join hands with his neighbors in the great work that is being done by the farmers of America to establish themselves on an equal footing with the other great economic groups.

The farm women are also to have a part in this program. The township committeemen are being asked to bring their wives with them to a county meeting at Oregon, January 3, where in a joint meeting they will plan together for a greater Farm Bureau in Ogle County.

This may be the last large membership renewal campaign in Ogle County, says Elmer Vietmeier of Forreston, President of the County Farm Bureau, for the members signed this time will not be for a three-year term only, as heretofore, but for three years and continuing thereafter until they give notice of wishing to withdraw. This continuing contract, recently approved by the County Executive Committee, will eliminate much of the work and expense of conducting a renewal campaign every three years.

Of the 979 members active in the Ogle Farm Bureau at the present time, 638 memberships will expire April 1, 1929, and 341 will hold over until the next year or until 1931. Those that hold over will not be asked to renew at this time.

Organization manager, H. D. Fink, states that the interest in the Farm Bureau of farmers all over his district was never keener than it is now. "There never was a time when farmers needed an organization more than they do now," said Mr. Fink, "and there never was a time when their organization was in a better position to help them than it is now. I believe it is easily possible to raise the membership in Ogle County to the goal that has been set."

The Farm Week in Washington

BY FRANK L. WELLER
(Associated Press Farm Editor)

Washington—(AP)—His position as champion of greater research in methods of producing and marketing farm commodities is credited with placing the name of Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific work in the department of agriculture, on the list from which a successor to Secretary Jardine is expected to be selected should the latter not retain his cabinet post in the Hoover administration.

Congress already has been petitioned for increased appropriations for agricultural research, and Gen. Herbert M. Lord, director of the bureau of the budget, has assured allied farm organizations that he will give the matter his deepest thought. The request is based on the theory that many of the farmer's burdens automatically will lift themselves with application of principles accruing from greater investigation of farm economies.

The underlying scheme of the whole project is to produce and market farm commodities of greater variety, quality, and quantity, at materially less expense.

Dr. Woods says that research in agriculture, if measured in dollars, is costing about $20,000,000 a year, and that the returns are now amounting to more each year than the entire expenditure of all the work of the department of agriculture and all the agriculture colleges in the country from their foundation, dating back in some cases to shortly after the Civil war.

The research that Dr. Woods advocates reaches into every phase of farm life, from the propagation of new plants to the protection of crops and livestock from parasites and diseases.

Its influence has been felt, and Dr. Woods says, should be felt appreciably further in cooperative enterprises, marketing, and general economics. The work of the federal bureau of agriculture economics and the state marketing service is national and international in scope and free from trade bias, he says.

"It gives the farmers," Dr. Woods explains, "individually or through his organizations, information as to current and past market demands and prices and probable demands based on world conditions. He can more intelligently determine whether to increase or decrease his acreage in particular crops, whether to hold or sell."

"Such information reduces speculation and aids transportation, distribution, and financing, and should tend to stabilize the production and marketing of agricultural products and thus reduce to a minimum the danger of gluts and unnecessary surpluses. The great problem is how to get a more complete and effective use of these aids by those most interested. This must come through education, which is at best a rather slow process."

Valuable Hints for Farmers and Their Good Wives

Insist upon local dealers buying eggs on a "loss-off" or quality basis.

Under the loss-off plan, which has come into increasing use in the last few years, no payment is made for eggs which are unfit for food, and a difference, based on quality, may be made in the price paid for good eggs.

The farm women are also to have a part in this program. The township committeemen are being asked to bring their wives with them to a county meeting at Oregon, January 3, where in a joint meeting they will plan together for a greater Farm Bureau in Ogle County.

This may be the last large membership renewal campaign in Ogle County, says Elmer Vietmeier of Forreston, President of the County Farm Bureau, for the members signed this time will not be for a three-year term only, as heretofore, but for three years and continuing thereafter until they give notice of wishing to withdraw. I believe it is easily possible to raise the membership in Ogle County to the goal that has been set."

The money value of a cover crop should not be measured solely by the increased yield obtained the first year. Crops may be larger for several years after a green manure crop has been turned under.

Breakage of eggs shipped to market can be reduced by the use of excelsior pads now manufactured commercially. They are made by wrapping excelsior with paper, are about 1-3 inch thick, and the size of an egg case compartment. For best protection six are used, one in the bottom of each side of the case, one above and one below the top filler.

Hens are particular about their comfort and will lay well in cold weather only if comfortably housed. Now is the time to clean the poultry house, disinfect it, and see that it is in good condition for the winter. Dampproof will cause trouble in cold weather. Provide one nest for every five hens

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, is three strokes. COW, HOW, HEW.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each pump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

To prevent silage from molding in the silo feed a layer of from two to three inches every day, keeping the surface level.

The male breeders in the poultry flock should be kept comfortably in houses in winter to prevent any possibility of their combs becoming frostbitten. Frosted or frozen combs affect their fertility and breeding capacity.

Potato rhizoctonia often flourishes in fields where continuous cropping is practiced in spite of disinfection of seed potatoes. Crop rotation—using grasses, small grains and clover as intermediary crops—is an important factor in controlling the disease.

Outlook Conference Slated for January

Washington, (AP)—Preparation of charts on the trend of farm produce for the annual agricultural outlook conference of the federal bureau of agricultural economics the week of January 21 to 26.

Dr. C. B. Smith, chief of the extension service, in inviting representatives of all the states to attend, suggests that they remain in Washington for several days after the conference to discuss ways and means for disseminating economic information.

"We believe," he says, "that we are at the beginning of a substantial forward movement in agricultural economics extension, based on ever-increasing research data of great significance to the farmer.

Thousands Jam Corinto to Welcome American Visitor

Thousands of persons journeyed to Corinto, Nicaragua, to welcome the men whom the United States has chosen for its next president. This colorful photo, by NEA Service, shows the throng in a narrow street as the Hoover party came ashore for the general reception. The city was decorated with American and Nicaraguan flags. Visible in this picture are some of the marines now on duty there. In this building Mr. Hoover observed in a speech: "This occasion represents a growing and united Nicaraguan people; a consolidation of forces for domestic peace."

Chicago Inspects Lindbergh's New Plane

One of the principal attractions at the National Aircraft Show in Chicago has been Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's new personal plane, The City of Columbus, on exhibition there. These interior views show Miss Helen McGuire, Chicago, posing in one of the berths, and the luxurious cabin. The big ship, built for Transcontinental Air Transport Company—a joint air-mail passenger service of which Lindbergh is vice president—has a wingspread of 78 feet, is 50 feet wide and weighs 12,500 pounds when loaded. It is equipped with deck and type writer, upper and lower berths, ice box, wash room, and has individual ash trays fastened to the window at each chair.

Paralytic Stroke Fatal to Novelist

Set for January 7

Marion, Ill., Dec. 17—(AP)—Trial of Art Newman, Freddie Wooten and Riley Simmons, former Birger gangsters for the murders of Lori Price, State Highway Patrolman, and his wife, were continued today until Jan. 7 by agreement of counsel.

A fall, which she suffered in London last summer was thought to have contributed to the cause of her death.

Miss Wylie (Mrs. William Rose Benet) was born in Rosemont, Pa. She was the daughter of Henry M. Hoyt of Washington, who was Solicitor General under President Taft.

In 1904 she married Philip S. Hitchborn, son of Rear Admiral Hitchborn. Four years later she eloped to Corsica with Horace Wylie of Washington. Hitchborn died, Wylie's wife obtained a divorce, and Mrs. Hitchborn married Wylie. In 1919 she divorced Wylie and came to this city where she began her literary career.

She gained recognition almost at once with her first two volumes of poetry, "Nets to Catch the Wind" and "Black Armour." After these she published "Jennifer Lorn," the "Vegetarian Glass Nephew," and her greatest success, "The Orphan Angel."

In 1923 Miss Wylie married William Rose Benet, himself a poet. Besides her husband she is survived by a son, Philip, a senior at Harvard. Her pen name was Elinor Wylie.

Gangsters' Trial

Fatal to Novelist

New York, Dec. 17—(AP)—Trial of Art Newman, Freddie Wooten and Riley Simmons, former Birger gangsters for the murders of Lori Price, State Highway Patrolman, and his wife, were continued today until Jan. 7 by agreement of counsel.

Circuit Judge D. T. Hartwell granted the continuance when State's Attorney Roy Browning, who assumed office Dec. 3, said he had not sufficient time to prepare the case and when Wooten appeared without counsel. The court appointed W. H. Fowler, Marion City Attorney and a former Assistant State's Attorney, to defend him.

Archer was shot when the car in which he was riding with his brother scraped fenders with an auto loaded with gangsters. The gunmen never were caught.

has had the idea at some time or other that he would like to write something.

But so far the Implement business has kept us too busy to attempt anything of the kind.

However, there are lots of interesting little things that happen around our place of business and in this community that we would like to tell you about.

So we have arranged with Mrs. E. Shaw down at the Evening Telegraph office, to publish this little column in her paper every Tuesday.

She hasn't told us how much she is going to pay us for conducting this department and we will probably need a lot of help from you Dixon folks and our farmer friends. But anyway, HERE WE ARE, and we hope you will like us.

Progressive farmers like Chris Fassler realize the value of well spread barn manure, so Chris came in last week and bought a new No. 4 McCormick-Deering Spreader.

Joy Atkinson has solved all his trucking problems by buying one of our new six-speed special International Trucks.

A. F. Karr dropped in to see us the other day and we got to talking about profits on feeding stock. Before he left he ordered one of the new McCormick-Deering Roughage Mills.

Everyone who has looked over this Roughage Mill tells us it is the best feed grinder and roughage mill they have seen for the price.

Geo. LeFevre, is another one of the up-to-date farmers who purchased one of these roughage mills this week.

HIKES FAR TO FLY

Arkansas Girl Walks to California to Get Chance to Become Airplane Pilot.

Six months ago, Josephine Black was so imbued with the idea of flying that she hiked from her home in Arkansas to Oakland, Calif., to get a chance to become a pilot. And to finance herself while learning to fly she took a job as ticket barker for an Oakland aviation concern. She's doing some flights now with an idea of becoming an airplane demonstrator.

FOUR HORSEMEN WINNING HONOR AS GRID COACHES

Boys Who Won Fame for
Notre Dame are Going
Strong in Game

BY BOB MATHERNE
NEA Service Sports Writer

It seems a difficult matter to keep the Four Horsemen of a few years back at Notre Dame out of the reading columns. Not that anyone wants to, but it does seem as if four fellows who got as much space as they did as collegians would not be grabbing much these days.

Of course, all of this is unsolicited and comes from the fact that these four young men are galloping ahead in the coaching game with just about as much success as they galloped to touchdowns for Knute Rockne and the South Bend institution in 1924.

As individuals and as a group, they're doing nicely, thank you, and they probably will be doing nicely the next time you bring their names up over a cup of coffee.

Two of them are connected with undefeated teams, one is with a team that lost only one game in nine played, and the fourth is Jimmy Crowley, whose pay check at Georgia wasn't much this season.

One of these young men is trotting back to Pasadena this year to see some of his protégés attempt to do what he and his mates did there in January, 1925—beat a powerful western team. This is Don Miller at Georgia Tech.

Miller and Crowley are mere assistant coaches in charge of the backfield candidates at Georgia Tech and Georgia. Elmer Layden is the boss at Duquesne, a team that lost only one game this year, and Harry Stuhldreher is at Villanova, an undefeated although tied team of 1928.

Had the team with which Crowley is connected with had as nice a season as the ones Miller, Stuhldreher and Layden are with, the Four Horsemen might have set some sort of a record for victories this season. As it is, counting the five socks the Georgia boys took on the chin, the four teams compiled a record of 28 victories, six losses and one tie for the year.

The record of Villanova and Duquesne answers any question you may ask concerning the ability of Stuhldreher and Layden as coaches, and the fact that Georgia Tech and Georgia backs as groups are considered the equal of just about any you name in the country are enough recommendations for Miller and Crowley.

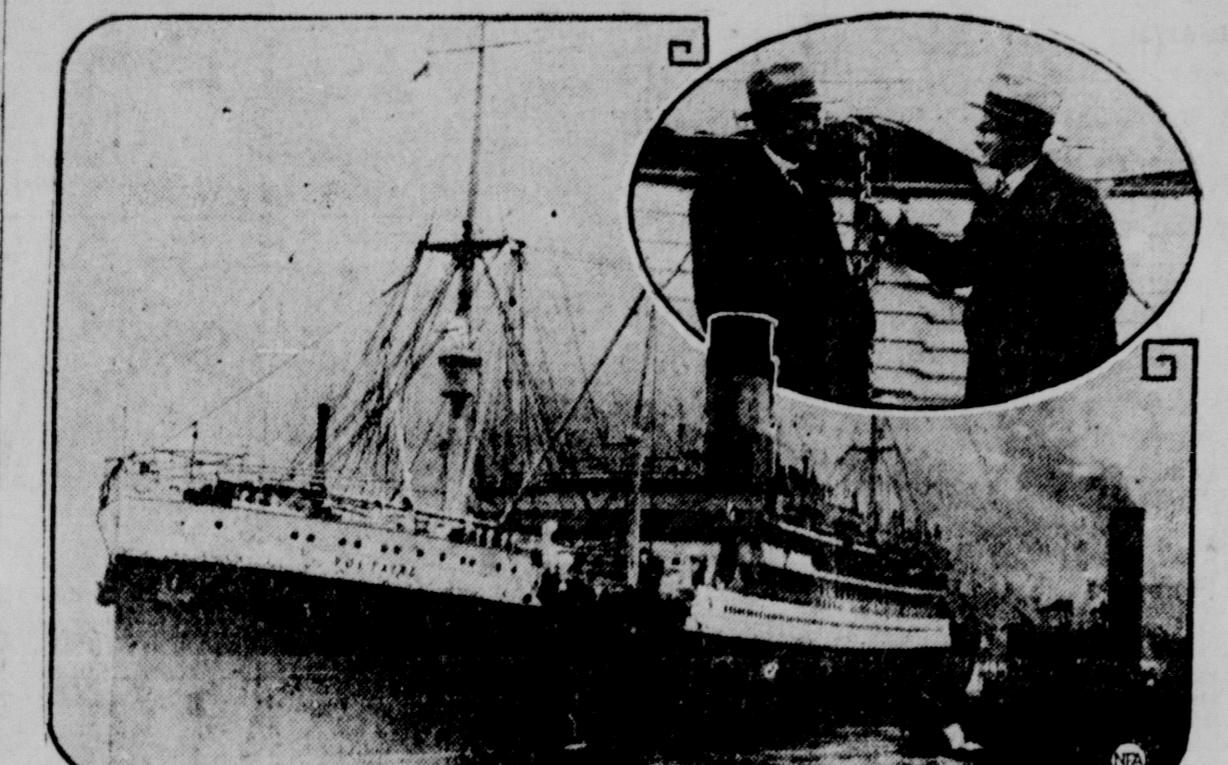

Georgia Tech has one of the most versatile backfields in the country. Not just four men, but about 10 of them. One of the lot is an All-America performer, this Warner Mizell. Stumpy Thomasson is not far behind in ability. You haven't heard much about Durant, Tech's quarterback, nor about Lumpkin and Randolph, fullbacks, nor about those Dunlap, Horn and Smith.

Those subs are good enough, you hear, for many college teams.

And the man who taught them most of their trickery is Don Miller.

Before the 1928 season got underway, it was said of Georgia's backfield that it was one of the best in the country with Johnson, Hooks, Dudley and McCrary running regularly. Injuries stepped in, a line failed to function properly as it should have, and as a result you didn't hear much about those backs as the season went on. But those backs, behind the line they had in 1927 with Nash and Shiver on ends, would have been heard a-plenty this fall.

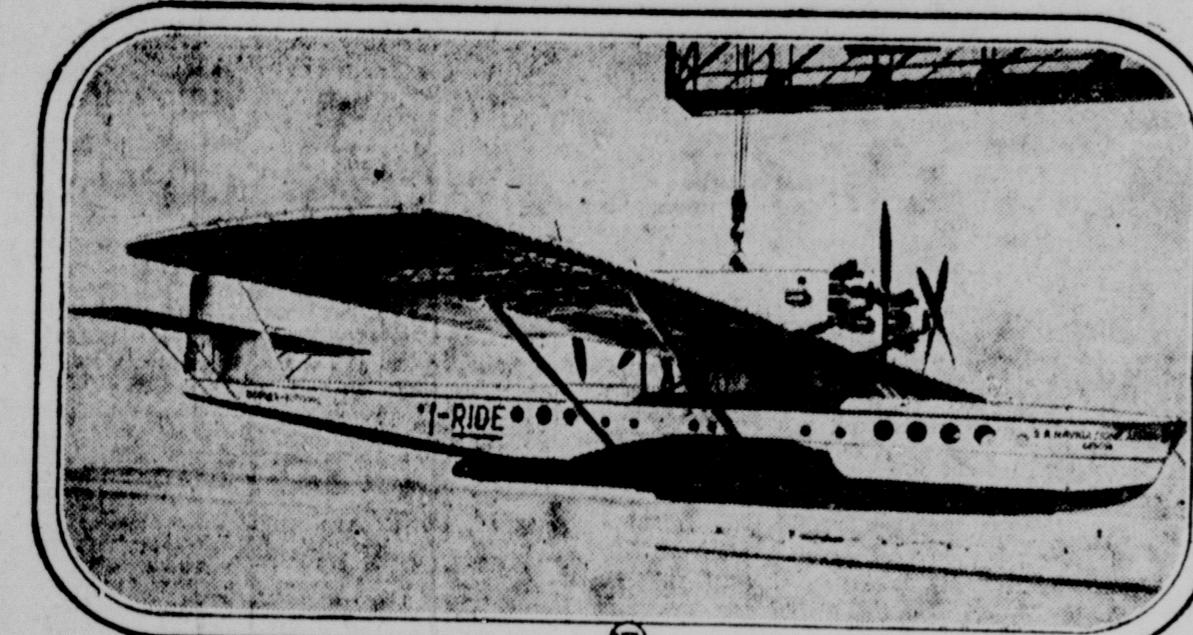

It is a recognized fact that the leaders in this coaching business are those fellows of long experience like the Warners and the Rocknes and the Zuppkes, but there is a tier of younger fellows just below that group who are coming along—the Hanleys, Meehans, Wades and Bachmans, and there's still another group, you might term them the kids of the

The Vestris' Sister Ship Sails South

Even the careful inspections and assurances of authorities probably failed to completely assuage the misgivings of passengers of passengers who sailed on this ship from New York. For she, the S. S. Voltaire, is a sister ship of the Vestris, now two miles under the sea off the Virginia Capes. In the inset are two survivors of the Vestris disaster, H. C. M. Johnstone, left, and Dr. E. Lehner. They're showing marked interest in a lifeboat as they sail a second time for South America.

Big Passenger Planes for Great Lakes Route

The big flying ships of the Dornier Superwalt type will be put in operation on Great Lakes routes next year. The first route will be between Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo. Later it is planned to establish service between Detroit, Mackinaw Island and Chicago. The big all-metal ships, duplicates of the one shown here, have a 97-foot wing spread, carry 25 passengers and have a cruising range of 1250 miles.

game, that also is getting along in great shape.

Into this last group, along with Joe McKenney at Boston, Bo McMillan at Kansas State and the numerous other young coaches throughout the country, the Four Horsemen fall, and from the success already achieved it seems only a matter of time before their stars will shine higher.

But, all hasn't been said about the success of the Four Horsemen as coaches for the year. The final word will come on New Year's Day at Pasadena when Bill Alexander throws his Miller-coached backfield against the California eleven.

Some Causes of Varicose Veins

By F. C. SCHURMEIER, M. D.,
Elgin, Illinois

This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Varicose veins of the leg occur most frequently in women past thirty years of age. In the female, the left leg is most frequently involved. Both lower limbs are afflicted in a goodly number of the fair sex. The number of people who have varicose veins is very large. When long dresses were in vogue the lower limbs were inconspicuous. The modern and more sensible garment does expose blemishes of the leg that a sensitive woman desires to conceal. Some women seek mental relief, therefore, in some form of correction of the knotty ulcer.

The skin over the varicose area is easily injured and ulcer may ensue. The ulcer usually appears on the inner side of the leg and within five or six inches above the ankle.

Because men are more exposed to injury to the legs is probably the reason why a comparatively larger number of ulcers appear in the male. Under early and proper care, ulcer should rarely occur.

The treatment of varicose veins may be surgical or medical. Surgical removal of all or parts of the enlarged veins; continuous hard labor; mechanical obstruction of the circulation (for example the garter); the gravid uterus; abdominal tumors; diseases that weaken the veins; and being born with valve defects.

The discomfort and pain are due to pressure in the veins. The stagnant blood may in places harden into stone-like masses (vein stones). They are most frequently found in the upper third of the leg and above the knee.

Hemorrhage from a bursted vein, due to the weakened condition of the blood vessels and the overlying skin, does occasionally happen.

Out of a hundred untreated cases of varicose veins, more than one fourth will sooner or later develop larger vessels usually gives permanent relief. Most sufferers from this condition do not consider it of sufficient importance to consult a surgeon, and would rather resort to bandages, rubber stockings, and the rubbing on of ointments or lotions. To pursue the latter course is unwise. Those who do not submit to surgery have recourse to the ambulatory treatment with Unas' Paste cast. Any competent physician can apply the cast. If properly applied, it will give great relief and often times a permanent cure.

When ulcer is present, the ambulatory treatment lends itself admirably to the healing of the sore, and there is no time lost in this method. It is still being said in some quarters that the ulcer being healed it will result in ill health. That is a wrong notion and at variance with the truth.

Prolonged rest in bed is another method of treatment, particularly when ulcer complicates varix (an enlarged and tortuous vein). If the right cure is given the ulcer, its healing may be expected at the end of several weeks. An ulcer of the leg may be caused by other diseases, not varix, when, of course, it requires specific treatment.

More recently the injection treatment has come to the front. The best thing to inject is still in dispute. However the principle of the method argues well for the relief of varix.

Technicians of the ancient and honorable game who have been foregathered for many weeks in southern California, tomorrow start a cycle of golfing that will not wane until the fairways of six courses in this section have been covered, and a treasure pot of $25,500 been divided.

Wednesday evening will be the Annual Business meeting and election of the congregation. All annual offices will be filled, and those whose tenure expires this year, of positions of elders, deacons and trustees. All services next Sunday will be in harmony with the Christmas season, with the special program featuring the children, on Monday evening, the 24th. The children's party will not be held this year, but their tokens will be distributed after the excercises, Christmas eve.

Offerings of food, clothing, toys, candy, etc., for the needy of the congregation and Bible School may be brought to the church at any time, for distribution Christmas morning.

Illinois Board of Anti-Saloon League

Chicago, Dec. 18—(AP)—The Illinois State Board of the Anti-Saloon League opened its semi-annual meeting here today in preparation for the two-day "victory" convention, which starts tomorrow. The meeting today was featured by the semi-annual report of Superintendent George B. Safford.

General Superintendent F. Scott McBride of Washington, D. C., will deliver an address tomorrow, in which he will review the effects of the recent election on prohibition policies.

Good Play, We Say

Gendron autos are fun; and what's more they build up the little bodies that propel them around; they stimulate brain work, too—keep the juvenile driver busy remembering all of the levers that must be pushed and pulled to properly operate an auto.

Besides Automobiles you should see our Aeroplanes, Dump Trucks, Fire Patrols, Sport Cars, Tricycles—16 sizes and styles, Kid Cars, Tot Walkers and Wagons.

See our big full size Wagon at $3.45, and the best and largest line of wheel toys ever brought to Dixon, and we are not underpaid.

Sonnenberg to Meet Ed (Strangler) Lewis

Boston, Dec. 18—(AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth football player, has agreed to wrestle Ed (Strangler) Lewis again for the heavyweight championship in the Beacon Garden on January 4.

Several months ago the pair met here and Sonnenberg gained the first fall with a "flying tackle" hold. Lewis was in distress when they faced off for the second time but saved his title when Sonnenberg dove through the ropes, injuring himself so severely that he was unable to continue.

Lewis has received $20,000 for signing the agreement and has been promised $30,000 more on the night of the match. Sonnenberg will receive 12½ per cent of the receipts.

HE: Who was that stupid looking man you were dancing with just now?

SHE: My brother.
HE: Oh, pardon me, I should have noticed the resemblance.—Passing Show.
